
2020 U.S. Figure Skating Championships July 2019 News

In the midst of July's record-breaking high temperatures across much of the U.S., join us for a brief respite from the heat and turn your attention via this monthly newsletter to the cool ice sheets of the U.S. Figure Skating Championships, January 20-26, 2020, in Greensboro, NC, and to the even cooler skaters who will make one of the most difficult sports on the planet look oh so beautiful and easy.

That's right. Even though event information has been listing Front Row All-Event Ticket Packages as sold out during recent months, it turns out that, due to a technical glitch, one front row package remains available for sale at the standard price of $850. If you are interested in snapping up this one last front row seat, you can either contact Collins Lowder of our Local Organizing Committee staff at 919.678.1652 or clowder@sportsproperties.com, OR simpler still, just go directly to Ticketmaster by following this link and make the purchase directly.

While we are on the subject of ticket packages, we now know that individual tickets for all sessions of the 2020 U.S. Figure Skating Championships will go on sale during the third week of September (week of September 16), exact day TBD. The launch of individual session tickets will open the floodgates to widespread purchases by the public of the best remaining tickets to each event. BUT, it's easy to stay ahead of the crowd: you can purchase the very best seats now by securing either an All-Event Ticket Package (includes tickets to every event of the Championships) or a Championship Weekend Ticket Package (includes 6 events including championship finals of Ladies, Men, Pairs, and Ice Dance, as well as the Skating Spectacular). To make your purchase now, please visit this link.

Show your Volunteer Interest

As promised in our June News, your Local Organizing Committee for USFSC 2020 is beginning its recruitment efforts for volunteers for the National Championships. To get started, the LOC wants to gauge interest in certain volunteer positions. Towards that end, we have created an easy form (literally requires no more than one minute to complete) for potential event volunteers to fill out. The form will provide you information on the areas of responsibility that U.S. Championships volunteers will be expected to cover, while providing the LOC with an early look at how popular certain volunteer positions might be compared to others. To access the form and submit your interest in becoming a 2020 U.S. Figure Skating Championships volunteer, please click here.

USFSC 2020 at the Dogwood Open

The Triangle Figure Skating Club, located in North Carolina's Raleigh-Durham area, hosts its biggest annual event, the Dogwood Open, during July each year. Thanks to Tami Bell who headed up the organization of the 2019 Dogwood Open, the 2020

U.S. Figure Skating Championships had a significant presence at the event, with an eye-catching booth location among the event vendors. In conjunction with the USFSC 2020 display, the LOC held a Register-To-Win contest and we would now like to announce our three winners: third prize, consisting of an official Championships t-shirt, goes to Julie Nickerson of Stevens Point, WI; second prize (USFSC 2020 embroidered jacket) winner is Charles Uhl of Jamestown, NC; and the winner of the first prize, landing 2 Championship

Weekend Ticket Packages, is Tonya Younger of Bunn, NC. Major congratulations to each of our winners, and thanks so much to all those entering the drawing for your interest in, and support of, the 2020 U.S. Figure Skating Championships.

Other News

Here are some quick news items to catch you up on other areas of preparation for the 2020 U.S. Championships:

- The Opening Ceremonies Committee under the leadership of Danielle Logano has completed costume designs as well as the initial story lines. Committee members, who represent clubs across North Carolina, are working on securing all the necessary practice times and locations for Opening Ceremonies rehearsals.
 - Sweeper costumes are currently in design by the team at Del Arbour.
 - Guilford Woman Magazine, Forsyth Family Magazine, and O. Henry Magazine have all joined our Sponsor Team as Media Partners.
 - Cone Health, Local Medical Services Sponsor of the Championships, is finalizing the special USFSC 2020 medical personnel uniforms with the help of U.S. Figure Skating.
 - Finally, your LOC sends its best wishes for much continuing success to Kim Saavedra of U.S. Figure Skating who will be leaving the organization on Friday this week to take on a new job in South Florida. Kim has provided marketing oversight and great guidance to the LOC and we wish her well.
